The President Speaks

WE ARE off on the journey toward another commencement goal. We got a little late start but like a good railroad train we can make up some time on the way.

We have a good passenger list. Our Freshman Class is larger than last year or the year before. Of course, some of our boys are not here. Some who would have finished this year are in the camps, military or civilian. We thought all senior students should be deferred a year. Even President Roosevelt does not think that the nation in this emergency should forget the long future for he recently said: "The message I would emphasize to you this year is that America will always need men and women with college training. Government and industry alike need skilled technicians today. Later we shall need men and women of broad understanding and special aptitudes to serve as leaders of the generation which must manage the post-war world. We must, therefore, redouble our efforts during these critical times to make our schools and colleges render even more efficient service in support of our cherished democratic institutions." In the liberal arts college we are hoping to contribute something to the training of men and women of broad understanding as leaders of the generation which must manage the post-war world.

One of the encouraging features of our enrollment is the increasing number of our alumni who send their own children as well as others to us. Please be sure that one of our constant aims is to build a college not only stronger but entirely worthy of the confidence of those who in their own student days helped to mould it for right things. May I solicit the increased interest of every alumnus as the trustees plan to keep the College on a safe religious and financial foundation and the faculty labors to build upon this a superstructure of strong scholarship and fine culture.

THE TALK OF THE CAMPUS

Forecast

IS IT enough for us to say that in spite of "polio," selective service, national defense, and an international emergency, Juniata's 1941-1942 term shows promise of a normal year. With alert trustees, scholarly faculty, ambitious students, interested alumni, and a dressed-up plant, achievements for the year should be impressive.

Homecoming

WE URGE you to drop the old routine for a couple of days this autumn and come back to the fondly remembered campus for a joyful and friendly renewal of by-gone associations. Then, too, a trip in late October over the colorful hills of Pennsylvania adds charm to the promise of a delightful week-end in Huntingdon. Though the college has not stood still in the days since you were a student here, you will find, nevertheless, the same spirit, the same traditions, the same warm friendliness which have always characterized Juniata. So come along on October 25 and see for yourself what differences there are, but remember that you are a Juniatian and are always welcome to the campus, which is more beautiful than ever this time of year.

Those who attend Homecoming this year will find a variety of things planned for their entertainment. The busy weekend opens on Friday evening with the Council Dinner in the College dining hall, attended by class and local association officials. Early Saturday morning the traditional class "scraps" begin the day and are followed by the annual Freshman-Sophomore football and hockey games. The culminating athletic activity of the day will be the football game with American University. Popular that evening will be the long-awaited "J" Club Banquet, followed this year by a movie in Oller Hall.

FOR a full complement of thrills and chills, for a good view of class spirit put into flaming action, for an occasional dash of comedy—Juniatians go to the sophomore-freshman football and hockey tilts on the morning of Homecoming Day.

Contrary to all the rules set down by the experts, in these games there is a regulation that the class teams can hold only a limited number of practice sessions. Besides this, they engage in a bit of interclass feuding on Lion's Back until a few short hours before the game, snatch a few winks of sleep—and then get out on the field and play the game of their lives. In finesse and technique the boys may be lacking a little, but in "fight" and the old will to win they more than make up for it.

The only time it's safe to pick up a winner for this game is when the closing whistle blows, but one prediction that can always be made is this—It will really be a ball game to watch.

THE ANNUAL "J" Club banquet will be held in the college dining hall this year, with Fred J. Fees, Ex. '16 Acad., prominent Ebensburg attorney as the guest speaker.

The date and time is, of course, Homecoming Day, Saturday, October 25, at 7:00 p.m. The price of tickets, which may be secured from "J" Club President Tony Reklis, is $1.00 for students and $1.25 for all others.

Special guests of the evening will be the basketball squad of 1914-15 of which the speaker was a member. Those invited to attend are Fred Fees, Ex. '16 Acad., Carman Newcomer, '17 AB, John Baker, '17 AB, John Ake, '15 AB, Harry Manbeck, '17 AB, Galen Horner, '15 Acad., Pete Bigler, and Abe Replogle, '16 AB.

The four star program for the evening includes "Gabe" Chiodo, '40 AB, as toastmaster; "The Chirps," Lorma Ruble, '41 AB, Anne Vandersloot, '41 BS, and Annabelle Mummert, '42; and Ronald Coleman and Basil Rathbone in the movie, "If I Were King," in Oller Hall.

From Alumni President Eckert

DR. DANA Z. ECKERT, President of the Alumni Association, is busy making plans for his first important alumni meeting. The Council dinner on Friday evening, October 24, to which are invited the Executive Committee, class representatives, president, and secretaries of the eighteen local associations. Assisting on this program will be William S. Liven-good, '26 AB, past president. First Vice-President William R. Flory '21 AB, is also expected.

Dr. Eckert is hoping to see many of you return to college hill on October 25. Proof of his enthusiasm for the Homecoming event is found in the following letter which he has written especially for the alumni:

October 1, 1941

"My fellow Alumni:

With the advent of the fall season and the return of students to college, it is natural that one's thoughts should return to "the Hill," where thirty-three years ago I was welcomed as a freshman, and where all of us either earlier or later enrolled for the first time in the Juniata family.

The world took on a hue more beautiful and glorious than I had ever seen, even in the lovely Lebanon valley. The country around the college possessed for me a glamorous enchantment. Season followed season with one miracle of nature supplanting another. The gold and scarlet banners of Mountain Day gave way to the snow and ice of winter. The icicles and frost of February melted into spring flowers and green grass and leaves.

Meanwhile, from September to June there was going on a transformation in the thinking and expression of a crowd of young persons. We read Chaucer, Cicero, Wordsworth, Homer or Browning. We studied college mathematics and the sciences. There was no football then, but we took part in cross-country runs, in tennis, basketball and baseball.

These things I remember—friendships with splendid boys and girls—deep and sincere questionings about early religious teachings—a growth and maturing that required time and congenial atmosphere.

Your experience was different in some respects—similar in others. The experience of the boys and girls now in school has some of the same elements as did yours and mine. This is what keeps a college youthful—its constant contact with young hearts and minds. You and I grow older and the illusions of youth give way to the stark realism of the present but always at Juniata there will be a glory and an enchantment for the boys and girls who come here.

Today and in the years just beyond, we shall need such places of transfiguration more than ever. Let it be our task to give our loyalty and our support to this one place we have known best—the one that was for us a second home, a cherished foster-mother, our alma mater.

Sincerely yours,

DANA J. ECKERT"

FRED J. FEES

"J" Club Banquet Speaker
"Mac"

WE WERE thinking the other day, after talking to "Mac," that he is one of the firmest traditions among Juniataans of the past decade and a half. Mac has been prowling around the campus these last fifteen years and has been both loved and feared by students on college hill. He began his services as a combination night fireman and night watchman. In those uncomplicated days it was thought that a night watchman would not be needed until after the students had retired. Times changed, however, and so many "incidents" developed early in the evenings that "Mac" was relieved of looking after the fires and given sole management of the campus, in his capacity of night watchman. To "Mac" go credit and thanks for many years of faithful service. He is the kind soul who rushes to answer the distress signal of the blinking entrance lights; he replaces fuses tormented into uselessness, unlocks doors for absent-minded students (and others), blazes his flashlight into the startled faces of latecomers, and drives away campus prowlers. That students do not hold grudges against "Mac," despite his penchant for getting them into difficulties, is evidenced by the fact that most of the "old grads" take time to look him up when they revisit the scene of their youthful misdemeanors. Although "Mac" has the lowdown on most Juniataans, he seldom reveals pertinent data, and never mentions names. All of this lulls the alumni into a feeling of security, and no doubt, to a slight degree, accounts for the friendly feeling they hold for "Mac."

Enrollment

Even in face of pessimistic predictions by college presidents and economists that college enrollments would be low this year, Juniata is holding her own. In fact the roll call of freshmen, with a total count of 135, showed an increase over last year. Particularly noteworthy is the fact that chemistry, the pre-medical course, and home economics attract the largest numbers of students. The registrar's office reports 22 in chemistry, 14 in medicine, and 14 in home economics. Music accounts for 8, business administration 8, liberal arts 17. In addition to the 135 freshmen there are 14 new upperclass and special students. The new students come from seven states and one foreign country, bringing our present student distribution record to eleven states and two foreign countries.

Late Opening

College has opened at last. For three long weeks the campus, more beautiful than ever, waited for the familiar tread of Juniata's young men and women. Everything was in readiness for the opening of college when the seriousness of the "polio" epidemic caused the administration to postpone the date for registration of freshmen to September 29 and for upperclassmen to October 1. Both the Student Leaders' Conference at Camp Kanestake and the football camp at Martin's Gap had to be cancelled. These groups came in on Monday, September 29, however, thus getting a few days' start on other upperclass students. Two football games had to be cancelled—one with the University of Delaware, scheduled for September 27, and the Drexel game, originally scheduled for Parents' Day on October 4.

"New Yorker" Influence

Being prompted by a feeling that all ALUMNI BULLETIN readers want to become better acquainted with their Alma Mater, the editor promises that our magazine will carry more personal glimpses into campus life and activities. In this effort, it is hoped that we will tell interesting incidents about people, from the night watchman to the president, dealing with Juniata's golden anniversary grad and with localities from "the Hill" to "foreign fields." If, in this venture, we chance to copy ideas from THE NEW YORKER (and this we definitely plan to do), no alumnus should fear that we are plagiarizing, for THE NEW YORKER editors have graciously given the ALUMNI BULLETIN full permission to do so. We gladly take this opportunity to acknowledge this courtesy.

Pilgrimage

The memory of Juniata's most famous son, the late Governor Martin Grove Brumbaugh, was honored on Friday afternoon, July 18, when one hundred of his friends and admirers joined in a pilgrimage to his grave near James Creek. President Charles C. Ellis introduced Colonel Henry W. Shoemaker, leader and originator of the pilgrimage, who gave a brief tribute to the former president of Juniata College and war governor of Pennsylvania.

Chemists Meet

Ten Juniata chemists attended the one hundred and second meeting of the American Chemical Society at Atlantic City from September eighth to twelfth. Dr. N. J. Brumbaugh, '06AB, was on hand to greet Dr. Walter J. Hamer, '29BS, of the National Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C., and his wife; Dr. John G. Donelson, '33BS, of Carnegie Illinois Steel Co., Pittsburgh; Dr. Donald G. Foulke, '34BS, of Beaver College, Philadelphia; Dr. and Mrs. Richard D. Cramer, '35BS, of the Experimental Station, E. I. DuPont and Co., Wilmington, Del.; Melvin L. McCreary, '35BS, of West Virginia Pulp and Paper, Williamsburg, Pa.; Samuel Livengood, '38BS, instructor at Rutgers University; David T. Zentmyer, '37BS, of the University of Pennsylvania; William H. Hassler, '39BS, likewise of the University of Pennsylvania; and Charles S. Rowland, '40BS, of Pennsylvania State College.

Dr. Foulke and Dr. Cramer each read papers before the organic division. Bill Hassler, Dave Zentmyer, and Bob Clarke were all on the registration committee. We are glad that our graduates had this occasion to rub elbows with the fifty-two hundred members of the A. C. S.

New Faculty Members

We welcome five new faculty members and administrative officers to the campus this year. Dr. Benjamin C. Bradshaw will teach chemistry; Miss Clara Brice, classical languages; Miss Kathleen Burnett, English and Dramatics; Miss Nixola Fillinger, Home Economics; and Miss Georgia Insley will be college nurse.

Dr. Bradshaw has his master's degree from Vanderbilt University and his Ph.D. degree from Harvard University. He has had several years of teaching experience and replaces Robert Epple, '38BS, who is doing graduate work at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Miss Clara Brice will fill the position in Latin and Greek which was held for a number of years by Dr. May E. Keirns who retired at the close of the past academic year. Miss Brice comes to her position with extensive preparation in two of the leading women's colleges in America. She was graduated with honors from Vassar College in 1938 and was a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society. She has held a fellowship at Bryn Mawr College and a graduate scholarship at Columbia University. In addition she has her master's degree from Bryn Mawr and has completed all the requirements for her Ph.D. degree except the dissertation.

In the place of Miss Betty K. Graybill, '37AB, who has returned to the Yale School of Drama, Miss Kathleen Burnett has been appointed to the English Department. Miss Burnett studied at Swarthmore College and at Barnard College, receiving her A.B. degree from the latter institution. Following three years of graduate study, she received her M.F.A. degree from the Department of Drama of Yale University. She has taught Dramatics and Public Speaking for two years at Tusculum College and has also directed the Lake Placid Players for two summers.

In the department of Home Economics, Miss Nixola Fillinger has been appointed to take the place of Miss R. Constance Hastie, who has accepted a position at the University of Connecticut. Miss Fillinger attended Albion College and received her B.S. degree from Michigan State College. She later received the M.A. degree from Teachers College, Columbia University. She has had experience in high school teaching in her home state of Michigan and has had practical experience in New York.

Miss Mary Dadisman, who received her degree in June, is going as a missionary to Africa. Miss Georgia Insley, a graduate of the Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, Ohio, has been appointed the college nurse, as successor to Miss Dadisman.

JUNIATA MEN IN SERVICE

As promised in the last issue of the ALUMNI BULLETIN, this issue carries the names and stations of "Juniata Men in Service." If anyone knows of other Juniadians who are in similar positions, the alumni office is anxious to keep an up-to-date list for reference for those who desire addresses and for publication in the BULLETIN and THE JUNIATIAN.

The Alumni Spotlight

Jacob H.
Brillhart

David H.
Brillhart

While two outstanding alumni are selected for each issue of the Alumni Spotlight, not often are we privileged to recognize brothers in this column. We are honored, therefore, to present to you Jacob H. and David H. Brillhart.

A MAN who has played a significant part in the development of the engineering industry of Texas is Jacob H. Brillhart, member of the class of '98. After graduation he taught two years, then went on to Lehigh University, from which institution he was graduated in 1904 with a degree of Civil Engineer. Following this he remained in Pennsylvania until 1912, first with the Pennsylvania Coal Company at Port Griffith, and later with Guerber Engineering Company in Bethlehem. It was while he was with the latter company that he designed the first steel breakers built in anthracite coal fields.

His flair for designing carried through to his work in the state of Texas, where he went in 1912, to become chief engineer with the Mosher Manufacturing Company in Dallas, Texas, and the Houston Structural Steel Company. His designing abilities were utilized for widely varying purposes—for seed houses, cement plants, steel buildings, bridges and skyscrapers. In rapid succession there followed important positions with engineering companies in Dallas, Houston, and Fort Worth. Since 1928 he has been President and General Manager of the Fort Worth Structural Steel Company.

Mr. Brillhart belongs to numerous clubs and organizations and has held offices in the Fort Worth Executive Ass'n., the American Institute of Steel Construction, the American Society of Civil Engineers, Texas Structural Steel Institute, and the Volunteers of America.

In 1908 Mr. Brillhart married Marie A. Schmidt. There is one son, Edwin Means Brillhart. Among his hobbies he mentions gardening and raising fruits.

A NOTHER Juniata graduate to achieve outstanding success in the field of engineering is David H. Brillhart, '02. In 1906 he received his degree in Civil Engineering from Lehigh University and until 1912 he pursued his profession in an itinerant fashion, working in various parts of the United States. In 1912 Bethlehem became his place of work and residence and since that time he has become a distinguished citizen of that city.

Mr. Brillhart is President of F. H. Clement and Company, Engineers and Contractors, President of the Union Bank and Trust Company, President of Bethlehem's leading newspaper, the Bethlehem Globe-Times, Director of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, Director of the East Sugar Loaf Coal Company, Director of the Times Publishing Company and a Director of the Bethlehem Hotel Corporation.

The activities of this busy man have extended themselves to the life of Bethlehem, and he has many civic, welfare and business interests. He is a Trustee (and past President) of St. Lukes Hospital, Director of the Children's Home of Bethlehem and Allentown, Director of the Hospital Service Plan of the Lehigh Valley, for the past four years Associate General Chairman of the Bethlehem Community Chest Drive, Director (and past President) of the Bethlehem Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Board of Trustees of the Saucon Valley Country Club. He is a member of the Executive Committee for the Celebration of the 200th Anniversary of Bethlehem in 1942 and is Chairman of a Citizen's Committee that had a survey of the Bethlehem Public Schools prepared by expert educators.

... The Juniata

- 1941 Football -

Once again the thud of cleated feet is heard over the campus, and with their sound another football season is inaugurated at Juniata.

In at least two ways the 1941 season has started far different from any other in recent years. First, two gridders were lost to the Army during the summer months, and a few others accepted defense positions and didn't come back to college; second, college was postponed for three weeks because of the infantile paralysis epidemic and the first two games had to be cancelled.

But that is all behind now and the squad of 33 working out daily under Coaches M. R. "Carty" Swartz and P. M. "Mike" Snider is straining at the leash that keeps them from action. With more than a week of practice under their belts and less than two more weeks before their opening game with Susquehanna, the Indians are 'rarin' to go.

Looking at the picture on the technical side, only seven lettermen returned to form the nucleus of the team. These seven, plus five other upperclassmen who saw some service last year, are the only experienced men on the squad. Backing up these men, however, is an eager bunch of frosh who want first team berths, and aren't kidding about it.

Lettermen Tony Reklis and Hollis Zwicker are having plenty of trouble trying to hold their end posts against sophomores Alex Phillips and Hank Eisenhart. Phillips saw some action last year, but Eisenhart is a newcomer to the squad. At tackle, sophomore Marlin Gingrich, a letterman, and Joe Smith seem to hold the edge because of their experience. Freshmen Jim Stewart, Herbert Hershberger, and Mike Croft are making them work, though. At guard experience gives the inside track to award-winner Lou Valenzi and sophomore Bob Hoover but transfer student Bob Newcombe has been impressive, and rookies James Herron and Richard Reed will have to be reckoned with. Graham Hamill, small but rugged snapper-back, is waging a merry tussle with Jim Dunmire, last year's regular, for the center post.

In the backfield it's a real toss-up between at least nine ball-toters for the first positions. Lettermen Mickey Leeper and John Brenner have been hitting with all of their power in the early drills. Wiry Chuck Bargerstock, a sophomore who runs in the Grega manner, may fill one of the berths, and his classmate Jim Rutledge has everything but weight.

Also entering into the picture are five freshman backs, the classiest looking crop of rookie ball-carriers to hit College Hill in many a year. Big Howd Gutshall, a hard-driving runner who can pass and punt with the best, has caught the eyes of the coaches already. The "Brooklyn Twins," Sy Jaffrey and Kermit Kitman, take a back seat to nobody when it comes to tossing leather, and both can carry the mail over the ground route. Maurice Quint and Ray Clapperton, a pair of rangy, high-stepping half-backs, complete the quintet. Pete Cassalia, a small and wiry lad, may also step into the picture.

So the squad is all lined up, and practically ready to go. There's a lot of work ahead for the Tribe, but the boys are looking forward to it. Already the coaches are having trouble keeping the mole-skinners in check so that they don't leave their games on the practice field. The postponement may have been bad in one way, but it certainly didn't hurt the spirit and eagerness of the squad.

College Gets Golf Course

Stretching out over 20 acres of previously rough and undeveloped campus is the newest addition to Juniata's sporting facilities—a nine-hole golf course. With four greens already sown, and most of the fairways in fair shape, a dream that has been nurtured and worked on for 10 years is now within sight of fulfillment.

Behind this great project to add to the natural beauty of the J. C. campus has been Mr. S. M. Hess, a member of the Board of Trustees for the past 11 years, and Coach M. R. Swartz. More than once Mr. Hess has wielded a shovel or rake, or operated a mowing machine.

As for the physical properties of the course, it is one that will test the skill of even the best of golfers. The entire 2000-yards are covered with "trouble." Two of the nine holes are dog-legs; two more are blind holes. The natural terrain, ideally suited for the location of a golf course, contains plenty of rough, woods, and other natural obstacles. No artificial aids were needed to make the layout more difficult.

Sponsor and real "angel" of the course, Mr. Hess stated that he planned the course for the main purpose of beautifying a part of the campus that for years had been only swampland. Realizing that the reclamation of such a piece of land was something that would require a great deal of time and of careful planning, Mr. Hess decided to turn the property into something that would be preserved through the years. He then conceived the idea of the golf course. Coach M. R. "Carty" Swartz laid out the course, and the necessary equipment was procured by Mr. Hess.

In its entirety the project is nothing less than stupendous. To begin with the entire swamp behind the Cloister dormitory and the athletic practice field had to be drained, and tile had to be laid so that the reclaimed area would not turn into swampland once more. When this aspect of the job was done, the tremendous task of leveling the ground began. Truckload upon truckload of top soil had to be carried in to fill out the low places, and to build up the greens. At the same time the entire area now covered by the course had to be cleared of dense underbrush, and thick patches of wood had to be cleared out.

As soon as possible mowing was begun on the fairways so that a good grass would develop. Then came the step that is now in progress on some of the holes—the sowing of the greens and the final touching up. Others of the fairways are still in the clearing and leveling process, but it shouldn't be many months before they are completed and all the greens are sown. Even then, of course, the task is not completed, for it will take some time for the grass to grow and for the fairways to be rolled into the condition needed for actual play.

And so another dream is about to come true because of the foresight, planning, and honest-to-goodness hard work of Mr. Hess and his aids.

Homecoming Game

Be the year good or bad, the weather fair or foul there is always one thing on a Homecoming Day program that is sure to provide a thrill for the grads. And that is the annual "Big Day" football game—that thrilling, hard-fought spectacle that comes with every Homecoming Day.

No matter how much rests on any other game of the season, this is the game where the Indians can be counted on to go "all out" in an effort to win. No matter who the opponent, this is the game where past records mean nothing. For on this, the "Big Day" in the Juniata football season, inspired football is as certain as death and taxes.

On the other side of the scrimmage line this year will be a new Homecoming Day foe, the Shoremen of Washington College. This will be the fifth grid meeting between the two colleges, however, and both will be out to break the existing tie in games won and lost. Juniata will also be out to get revenge for the defeat handed to them by the Maryland team last year, a defeat which ruined a previously unscored-on season and put the Indians on the skids for the rest of the year. The game will be played on the varsity athletic field, and the kickoff is scheduled for 2:30 p. m.

One of Juniata's oldest alumni, Miss M. Emma Tyson, who celebrated her 90th birthday in May, 1941, is returning to the college for Homecoming this year. She is the aunt of the Reverend H. Stover Kulp, '18AB, well known to friends of Juniata for his missionary work in Africa. In 1872, Miss Tyson began a long and successful teaching career in the public schools of Pennsylvania. She attended Juniata at intervals until 1892. She taught in the Spring City school system from 1892 until her retirement in 1912. Miss Tyson was a charter member of the Royersford Church of the Brethren. Juniata will welcome her once more to college hill and be proud to entertain this loyal alumna of such long standing.

DR. CLOY G. BRUMBAUGH

The passing of Dr. Cloy G. Brumbaugh is a distinct loss to the college, the people of the Juniata Valley and the medical profession. Many hearts were saddened by his death on Sunday morning, August 31. Dr. Brumbaugh rendered an admirable service to his people in the tradition of a family well-known to Juniata College people. In "The Daily News," Editor John H. Biddle '26, said "Cloy Brumbaugh never would have been satisfied to follow merely the narrow path of his chosen profession. His hobbies, his interests and loyal devotions to his home town, his convictions in regard to his own profession, his love of living and the affection in which he was held by friends polished the many facets of his intellect and personality to a quiet but steady brilliance. His facile and vigorous mind made him at home in any gathering. It is impossible to express in words a true summation of the service given to this community over the years by Cloy Brumbaugh." He was always a loyal Juniatian, an active Rotarian, and busy in county and state medical societies. Dr. Brumbaugh was a member of the American Medical Association, the Philadelphia Obstetrical Society for which last society he was councillor of the Sixth District. He was also a fellow of the American College of Surgeons. He was for eight years a member of the administrative staff of the college, serving as college physician. Surviving members of the family include his wife and one daughter, Helen.

A good account of the '26 class reunion is given by John H. Biddle who makes the following report: "An enjoyable evening of renewing old school ties, reminiscences and exchange of experiences marked the fifteenth reunion of Juniata's Class of 1926, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Calvert N. Ellis on Taylor Highlands, Saturday evening, May 31, 1941. As '26 graduates and ex-members arrived, greetings were exchanged all around the group and there was lots to talk about. A delicious buffet supper was served in the dining room of the Ellis' home and much enjoyed. Elvin Hess, permanent secretary of the class, explained the status of the class gift to the college and urged that those who had neglected to do so, "pay up." With Mike Snider holding the class annual and taking each classmate in turn, we enjoyed going through the Alfarata and gathering news from the members present of all who graduated fifteen short years ago! Bill Livengood won first honors, being able to report on more classmates than any other person present. Bill not only gets around the state a lot, but never forgets a friend or anything about him.

"Those who attended the reunion: Lois Myers Snider, '19, Lois H. Gibbel, '27, Ruth Vuille Stewart, '32, Samuel H. Stewart, Martha Cupp Livengood, '23, Henry R. Gibbel, Catherine E. Fyock, Catharine A. Long, Kathleen Clark, '27, John H. Biddle, Helen Read Biddle, I. Newton Taylor, Janet Campbell Taylor, '34, Faith Studebaker Owen, Sarah B. Hess, '20, Anna Bushman, T. Mary Gauntz Cumming, who was serving on the foreign mission field in the Mission Hospital, Tiehling, Manchuria, has returned to America with her two children and is living at 106 Sherman Street, Meyersdale, because of the unsettled condition in the Orient. She has not yet learned whether her husband, Dr. Wilfred T. Cumming, has been able to leave China. Mary landed in America early in February and since that time has done a great deal of public speaking. This past summer she taught in the junior camp at Camp Harmony, Hooversville.

Hayes R. Swan, who is now in his twelfth year of teaching in the Confluence High School in Somerset County, has his Master of Education Degree from the University of West Virginia.

The Reverend Levi K. Ziegler resigned his pastorate at the Waynesboro Church of the Brethren to assume the directorship of the Civilian Public Service Camp No. 16 at Kane, Pennsylvania. The camp location in the Allegheny National Forests gives forestry work for the 150-200 expected conscientious objectors. This 44-hour a week work program is under the direction of government technicians. The camp program will be educational, religious, and recreational. The camp is excellently equipped, offering a fine library, reading room and recreational facilities. The camp staff consists in addition to Mr. Ziegler, of J. Aldene Ecker, '38AB, of Waynesboro, educational adviser, and Mrs. Levi Ziegler, dietician. Other Juniata students in this camp are I. Harvey Horner, '39BS, Mark King, '39AB, and Robert Rose, '39AB.

Thomas H. Knepp of Everett High School is serving this year as Vice President of the Pennsylvania Academy of Science.

Miss Rosemary Newman, of St. Louis, Missouri, became the bride of Russel A. McElwee in a quiet and beautiful ceremony performed in the Ave Marie Shrine in St. Louis on Saturday, July 5, 1941. Mrs. McElwee is a graduate of the Maryville College of the Sacred Heart. After a quiet visit with friends in Huntingdon, the bride and groom continued their wedding trip to Atlantic City, New Jersey. Following his graduation from Juniata College, Mr. McElwee took advanced work at New York University. At present he is jewelry buyer for the Barr Company in St. Louis, where he and his wife will reside.

At Penn State's Summer School Commencement, Eugene M. McCoy was one of the five Juniata students to receive masters' degrees. His was in Science.

Now that the printing contract for the Alumni Bulletin has been changed from DuBois to the Nittany Printing Company in State College, it gives proof reader Caroline Pearce Waters an opportunity to get an advance glance at the "goings on" of Juniata students. And where could we find a better proof reader? Mrs. Waters is president of the State College Woman's Club and has recently represented her club at various County and District Federation meetings.

The summer's turnover in teaching positions included Samuel J. Steinberger who has accepted a mathematics teaching position in Lewistown High School. He taught formerly in the Robert Smith Vocational High School, Loysburg, Pennsylvania.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. B. Paul Ross, of Beaver Springs, on June 27, 1941, in the Mary M. Packer Hospital, Sunbury. The child has been named Judith Ann. Mrs. Ross (Elizabeth Gregory) was formerly county home economics adviser for Huntingdon, Mifflin, and Juniata counties with headquarters in the office of the county superintendent of schools in Huntingdon.

The famous Memorial Chapel at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, was the selection of Laura W. Schwenk for her marriage to Stanley Eugene Sprague of St. Louis, Missouri. The ceremony took place on Tuesday, September 2, 1941. The charm and musical ability which made Laura popular at Juniata won her a recognized position on the Main Line, Philadelphia. Since her graduation she has been teaching music in the high school at Haverford. Mr. Sprague is a French teacher in one of the St. Louis high schools. They reside at 441 Park Road, Webster Groves, Missouri.

Members of the class who have not already learned of his passing will be grieved to know of the death of C. Wayne Waite on Thursday, July 3, 1941, in the Blair Memorial Hospital in Huntingdon. He had been ill for several days. During his teaching career in the Kishacoquillas Valley, he had become well-known and at the time of his death was supervising principal of the Menno township school at Allensville, Mifflin County. He married Myrtle Gutshall August 6, 1938. In 1934 he received his M. Ed. degree from The Pennsylvania State College. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church at Allensville and superintendent of the Sunday School.
